ON THE BRINK OF DESTRUCTION...

In the near future, the military has developed a new breed of intelligent operational soldiers – cybots for short. Enemies of the state input the central BRAINCORE computer with the Sir virus X virus which sends the cybots on a deadly rampage.

The virus spreads rapidly, wreaking havoc around the country. The BRAINCORE monitors all significant troop movements and threatens to launch nuclear warheads if the military engages the cybots.

Your objective is to eliminate the cybot threat in the southwest region of the USA. Your superiors hope that if they send a lone commando on search and destroy missions, the cybots won't identify you as a significant threat.

Good luck, soldier. America is counting on you.

GAMEPLAY

Select your mission, and use Up and Down on the joystick to scroll through the mission list. Start the mission by pressing A.

During your mission, press Option 1 to select your weapon and A to fire. Press B to view long range data – targets are generally indicated by one or more red dots. Press Option 2 along with a direction on your joystick to dodge enemy fire.

Exit the map edge at any time so our telemetry system can lock onto your coordinates. If you have not achieved your objective, you will be sent back after resupply.
